CLICK on this link:

SIGN IN to your Google account (anyone with a Google account can edit).

This is what you should see:

Click on EDIT.

You will see a search box at the top of the map. TYPE in your county and state. To use a real location, I type in the county Chamber of Commerce and use that as a marker.

Up will pop a finder window that should correspond with your search words. If this is the correct county you wish to use or the correct Chamber of Commerce, click the + Add to map at the bottom of the finder window.

To edit the name of your marker, CLICK THE PENCIL tool (second icon from the left).

TYPE in the top box how you wish your trail to be labeled. I put County, State for easy recognition.

In the empty box below the trail label, ADD your website URL or Facebook page link. This will help visitors find your more easily.

Then click SAVE at the bottom of the finder window (if you like what you've done, or hit cancel if you'd like to start over.)

That's it - you're on the map!

Thank you for taking the time to share your trail, and be sure to let your friends and neighbors know about this resource. It's a grassroots effort, just like the trails. We have no interest in creating a national group - just want to make it easy for folks to find all the beautiful trails across North America!
